With F.M.L.

In Corpus Christi the other day, Martin and Les discovered shell crabs. Martin particularly.

They are little creatures with boney legs and claws that huddle in otherwise empty-appearing shells. The motel room was full of them, particularly the bathtub and wash basin.

You could hear the clank, clank, clank as the crabs emerged just far enough to walk around, grasping for footing that was not there on the porcelain fixtures.

Once in a while, we were told, the crabs move from the shell they occupy to a larger one. Or they try.

This didn't bother Martin. He just kept bringing in shells and crabs until they had to go out onto the veranda in plastic buckets of water.

Coming back Sunday, the plastic buckets were covered to avoid spilling for a return trip in the trunk.

Martin was shook when he discovered some of the crabs apparently suffocated en route.

I don't know what shell crabs can do to goldfish. But we'll probably find out if he drops them into the pond at the side of the house. There's a snake in there somewhere. And somebody said a raccoon has been lunching on the larger goldfish recently.

Frogs, too. And turtles transplanted from another pond.

Being freshwater, the crabs probably won't do so well. But you can bet they'll get the chance to find out. And the domestic crawfish may resent the intrusion.

113-113-113

Kids like that pond, almost as much as Les and Martin liked the Gulf. I've counted as many as a half dozen at one time hoping to bring out something different from its stony bottom.

They might learn from the racoon who mysteriously grabbed one of the fish one night.

It's no worse than trying to brush your teeth, though, with a basinful of crabs walking around, some trying to snip the bristles off the brush.

Doctors Recommend Horse Revaccination

The Texas Veterinary Medical Association (TVMA) and the Texas Animal Health Commission (TAHC) issued a joint statement today recommending the revaccination of all horses immunized during the Venequelan Equine Encephalomyelitis outbreak of a year ago.

Dr. Wallace R. Larson of San Antonio, President of TVMA, and Dr. H. Q. Sibley, Executive Director of the TAHC in Austin, said Texas is a high-risk area for a V.E.E. outbreak and while it is hoped on impending threat is eminent, revaccination is further insurance for the public against this deadly form of sleeping sickness in horses.

The spokesmen said that ti was only after weeks of study and consultation with scientists and practitioners that the decision was made to revaccinate. Recent outbreaks of V.E.E. in Mexico and the discovery of V.E.E. antibodies in a dog and coyote found in Texas influenced the decision, the spokesmen said.

Weather conditions are right for mosquitoes and other vectors to transmit V.E.E. from an infected animal to an animal that does not have immunization or to humans, they said.

County Crops Tour To Draw Area Farmers

The annual tour of Milam County crops will be held Monday starting at 8 a.m. at the postoffice. The crops committee promises something a little different this year.

In addition to grain sorghum variety tests and cotton variety tests the tour will include treated cotton, southern corn rootworm damage, and a final stop at Joe Glaser's farm.

Bill McCutchen, county agent, released this tour schedule:

8 a.m. Leave east side of post office

8:10 a.m. Frank Kratochvil farm on highway 77, just past Hearne Highway intersection. Grain sorghum varieties and cotton varieties.

8:30 a.m. Frank Dohnalik farm on the Yarrellton highway, corn - Southern corn rootworm. Dr. Charles Cole, A&M entomologist will discuss.

8:45 a.m. Anton Moraw on the Yarrelton highway, cotton.

9:15 a.m. Joe Mueck farm, Marak community on Farm Road 2269, cotton varieties and cotton insect control, Tommy Plato to discuss.

9:45 a.m. Anton Kunchick in the Marak community Farm Road 2269. Grain sorghum variety test, Joe Lee Humplik to discuss.

10 a.m. Soda water break

10:20 a.m. Doyal Arnold Farm Road 485. Grain sorghum variety test, green bug control discussion.

11 a.m. Wilburn Beckhusen farm, Little River bottom. Grain sorghum varieties, experimental cotton varieties.

11:30 a.m. Joe Glaser's fish farm at Buckholts. Joe and Stanley Glaser to discuss cage catfish operation and fingerling and food fish production.

11:45 a.m. tour dismissed.

DPS Gears For 4th

Colonel Wilson E. Speir, director of the Texas Department of Public Safety, today estimated that traffic accidents would claim 58 lives in Texas during the 102-hour July 4th holiday weekend from 6 p.m. Friday, June 30 to midnight Tuesday, July 4.

The DPS director said that if the holiday is typical, approximately one-third of the fatal accidents will involve only one vehicle.

Traffic law violations will contribute to many of the fatal mishaps with the major factors including speed too fast for conditions and driving while intoxicated.

In an effort to hold the toll down, Speir said the DPS, local law enforcement agencies, and the news media of Texas will cooperate in a special "Operation Motorcide" program. Information on fatal collisions will be tabulated at DPS Headquarters in Austin and released three times per day during the holidays in an effort to increase driver awareness.

All available Department of Public Safety patrolmen will be on duty, placing special emphasis on drinking and reckless drivers.

Buckholts Post To Sponsor Fish Fry, Picnic

The Buckholts American Legion Post 519 together with the Ladies Auxiliary are sponsoring a fish fry picnic on Sunday, July 2 at the SPJST Hall in Buckholts.

Plans have been made to have bingo, a country store, and all the delicious fish fillets you can eat. Tickets for the meal will be available on the picnic grounds. There will be about one thousand pounds of fish ready to be fried. Serving hours will be from 4:30 to 7:30 p.m.

Arnold Schiller and his country and western band will be playing for the dance which will start at 8 p.m.

It should be a fun-filled day with entertainment for the whole family. Everyone is invited to come out.

All proceeds will go to the American Legion Post 519 building fund.

Whale Hunters, Conservationists Face Battle

By Patrick Massey
Reuter Correspondent

LONDON

A battle between whale hunters and conservationists is coming to a head next week.

At the five-day 24th annual meeting of the International Whaling Commission (I.W.C.), which opens here on Monday, the hunters will be urged to lay aside their harpoons and let the earth's largest creature go and multiply in peace.

A spirited campaign is being mounted on the sidelines of the meeting by conservationists, spurred on by the recent international environment conference in Stockholm.

Many I.W.C. experts argue that conservationist fears are exaggerated -- that properly regulated whaling does not endanger the species and in some cases can even bring it benefit.

Both sides exchange contradictory statistics about the world's whale population. Whalers complain that the whole issue is distorted by a sentimental attachment accorded to the whale on grounds of its mammal status and supposedly high level of intelligence.

Blue whales, the largest of all, are far bigger than any other creature known to have inhabited the earth, including the brontosaurus. Admirers see in them an innocuous majesty, and rage at the prospect of them being turned into pet food.

The I.W.C. brings together 14 nations concerned with whaling. They are Argentina, Australia, Canada, Denmark, France, Iceland, Japan, Mexico, Norway, Panama, South Africa, the Soviet Union, the United Kingdom and the United States.

Nowadays only Japan, the Soviet Union and Norway send out whaling expeditions and the Norwegian ones are on a small scale only.

The commission operates a total ban on the catching of blue whales and some of its smaller cousins, the right whale, the grey whale and the humpback whale.

All these suffered losses that brought them close to extinction in the years before the commission was formed in 1947. The blue whale is thought to have declined from an original population of nearly half a million to a total of little more than a thousand by the time the ban was imposed.

Commission sources in London put the present blue whale population at around 11,000 through many conservationists say it is still much lower.

A key proposal to be laid before the conference is for a 10-year-moratorium on whaling of all kinds. British experts argue that this is unnecessary.

Argument now revolves around three types of whale-- the fin whale which is about half the size of a blue whale, the smaller sei whale and the sperm whale.

The sperm whale is a creature in a class of its own. It is the only toothed whale and is the only one whose meat is inedible. It is hunted for its oil which is used in low quality cosmetics. The sperm whale is the classic type featured in fictional works like Herman Melville's Moby Dick.

Some British experts admit the fin whale is in trouble. Its population in the Antarctic is reckoned at 77,000 which is about a third of the level at which it would give the maximum sustainable hield (M.S.Y.).

The M.S.Y. is the figure calculated for the number of whales which can be caught without depleting the herd by outstripping its reproduction rate.

A complicating factor is that some experts believe hunting at around the M.S.Y. level can actually increase the reproduction rate by diminishing natural whale competition for food.

British experts now feel the annual catch of around 2,500 fin whales should be abandoned to allow the species to move up to its optimum population level.

New Well Due For CN Field

By Lloyd Albertson

The Cherokee Navarro Field southeast of Milano gained a new deep wildcat late last week which will be a confirmation test for the Austin Chalk zone which was discovered as an oil producing formation several months ago in the south Milam County area.

Byron Rose, independent operator now with headquarters in Austin but formerly of Houston, scheduled the wildcat. It is permitted to 6,500 feet and has the lower Austin Chalk as its objective. It will be Rose's No. A -1 G. R. Hurt.

The Rose No. 1 Herald Hood, located on a 32 acre lease in John Williams Survey, discovered pay in the lower Austin Chalk when it was drilled early this spring.

Location of the No. A-1 Hurt wildcat is on a 227 acre lease in James Welch Survey. Drillsite will be 1,375 feet northwest of the No. 1 Herald Hood.

The location also is in the vicinity of a number of shallow Navarro oil-wells on the Ray Woods, Lillian Beard, Coleman and Wallace Beard and other surrounding leases.

The Austin Chalk was discovered as an oil bearing formation more or less by accident last spring. Byron Rose scheduled his No. 1 Hood as an Edwards Lime test permitted to 6,000 feet, but when drilled to total depth found no shows in the formation. It was then plugged back to where shows had been indicated, and completed as a 27.65 barrel per day oiler. Production is from the lower Austin Chalk through perforations at 5,652 - 670 and 5,680 - 698 feet.

The No. A-1 Hurt will be the confirmation test to discover whether the Austin Chalk production can be developed in the Cherokee Navarro Field.

New Savings & Loan Is First For County

The Ben Milam Savings and Loan Association was opened for business on Monday following the receipt of a telegram from the Federal Savings & Loan Insurance Corporation of Washington, D. C., advising that it had been granted insurance accounts, Roy Engram, executive vice president has announced.

The Association has temporary quarters at present at 112 West Second Street across from the Postoffice and near their new building which is under construction on the corner site.

Preliminary plans to organize the Ben Milam Savings & Loan Association were started over three years ago by a group of Milam County citizens. Officers and directors are: E. L. Wied, president; Roy M. Engram, executive vice president; Robert L. Ellett, secretary - treasurer; and directors, Dr. S. H. Richardson, Dr. George Bowman, W. P. Hogan, Lee Roy Caffey, Joe Glaser, and Howard Chrisco.

Mrs. Doris McCullin is the Association's executive secretary.

Ben Milam Savings & Loan has a capitol stock and surplus of $300,000, Engram stated. It will pay 5% per annum interest on passbook accounts; 53/4% on 1 year certificate of deposit of $1,000 or more; and 6% interest on 2 year certificates of deposit of $5,000.

The Association is the first savings and loan that has ever been located in Milam County.

"It is not only the first one, it is the only one," Engram commented when announcing that it had started operations.

"I'd like to point out that we will serve the whole of Milam County, not just Cameron where our headquarters are. We will offer the same kind of services that other savings and loan associations do. At present we will be operating in our temporary quarters, but expect our new building under construction to be finished in a few weeks, and then we will occupy it and be able to serve our customers from there."

Water Loan To Provide Service For Communities

A loan of $290,000 recently approved for the Southwest Milam Water Supply Corp. will be used to serve customers delayed from the original contract, not to expand services.

The story reported to The Herald several weeks ago was in error when it said the loan would be to expand services.

The loan will provide services to customers in Minerva, Chriesman, Hanover, Blackjack and Tanglewood. This additional loan should complete the original contract which is to service a total of 447 customers, according to Claude Spence, president of the water corporation.

He said construction should begin right away to complete this phase of the work.

At present 341 customers are being served water through the corporation.

Customers are reminded that before they can tie on to the corporation water system, they must disconnect from their old water system. This is a State health rule which the corporation is governed by.

Horse Show Sunday At Pettibone

There will be a horse show Sunday, July 2 at the Pettibone arena starting at 2 p.m.

It will be an all-trophy show with high point trophy saddles to be given away at the end of the season.

Classes will include western pleasure, barrels, pole bending, egg race, keyhole, girls goat tying, and calf roping.

Classes will be for ages 13 and under and 14 and over.

A rodeo is planned for July 14 and 15 at the arena.

The Heat Goes On...

Your body temperature is 98.6 degrees when normal.

Earlier this week the 103 plus readings in Central Texas sent people to the air conditioning, water cooler or the refrigerator, as if to ice down their boiling blood.

The swimming pools in the Milam area, where open, drew good numbers and golf courses were vacant by comparison to normal weather.

Night-time diversions like tennis under lights and summer baseball went on, but it was a bit difficult for fans, even partisan parents, to keep the excitement through a whole, hot, early-evening game.

It is that time of year.

Joshing of course, someone even said they saw a TV tube melt when a weatherman read off the temperatures which included a 111 at Wichita Falls.

And the heat goes on.

What Others Say...

Computer Run...

Man meets machine. Machine wins again. Man pulls plug.

That's the scenario running through the consciousness of a physics teacher in Washington High School, Denver, Colorado, who told The Denver Post the other day that the "infernal machines" are taking over.

Buel C. Robinson, the teacher, cited two business-machine punch cards that had been handed him by Peter Dach, a student who has a class in computer-assisted mathematics in the period just before Mr. Robinson's physics lecture. An electric typewriter had inscribed these words across the top of the notched cards: "Dear Mr. Robinson. Peter has been busy with me and I am sorry that he is late again today. Love, the Computer."

As he had expected, Mr. Robinson told his newspaper, "the machines are taking over the world and are now controlling us." He is right. Not only is there that ominous word, "again," to prove that the machine is keeping track of its tardy notes, but there's the sweet politeness of tone in the message. Subliminally, the machine is saying that it's determined to rule, but that it's prepared to be decent about it.

Tel Aviv Airport Now Tightens SecurityMeasures

By Zvi Zipper
Reuter Correspondent

TEL AVIV

A terror attack by a pro-arab Japanese suicide squad at Tel Aviv's Lydda Airport in May, in which 27 persons died, has led to unprecedented security precatuions aimed at forestalling any similar attacks.

The authorities realize, however, that nothing can be completely foolproof.

"The only answer would be for passengers to travel without any luggage, dressed in bathing suits and carrying only a toothbrush attached to their passports by a rubber band," one security officer said.

Nonetheless, extensive precautions began almost immediately after the disaster.

As all international airliners land, the planes are surrounded by a cordon of armed soldiers.

A squad boards the plane, accompanied by a policeman and a girl-security guard who is present to search any suspicious woman passenger on board.

An officer explains to passengers that the precautions are being taken for their own protection, and the policeman scruitinizes the travel documents of every passenger. They are then permitted to leave through only one exit.

As they reach the runway, they are confronted with the mountains of luggage which have been unloaded from the plane and each passenger is asked to identify his own suitcase.

When a general alarm has gone out following a warning, every piece of luggage is submitted to search and all passengers are frisked.

The bags are then loaded on trolleys. The passengers are warned that they may not open their suitcases in the terminal building unless ordered to do so by a customs inspector or a security guard. They then board coaches and ride to the airport building, with several armed soldiers at strategic points inside the coach.

As they wait for their luggage along the conveyor belts, they are made acutely concious of the uniformed and armed guards surrounding them on all sides. While this helps to give them a sense of security, it also increases their awareness of the very real possible danger that threatens the life of every passenger.

Meanwhile out in the runway soldiers in full battle dress lounge on their armoured car, waiting for the next plane to land and the process to be repeated.

Once away from the airport, the pall of danger fades immediately, an only comes alive again when the passenger returns to Lydda, for his departure.

He must submit to a body search and all luggage is inspected, and passed through a series of sophisticated electronic detection devices sensitive to explosives and metals.

Bags are also put into a pressure chamber. The precatuions on El Al -- 53 Israeli airline -- have been kept secret here, but reports from abroad have speculated that in addition to armed guards traveling on board, pilots are protected by bullet-proof bulkheads.

Luggage and cargo holds are specially reinforced to withstand explosions.

One foreign source said that special tear-gas outlets had been built into the cabin to enable the pilot to counter any hijacking attempt in flight.

The planes are also fitted with special blast - proof compartments.

OLD PHILOSOPHER

Dear editar:

Although the country is said to be facing an energy crisis -- this doesn't worry me, I've faced lots of them and the cure is to lie down till they pass, if you aren't alert enough to lie down before they get there -- people keep on figuring out more and more uses for electricity.

For example, one outfit says it can break the cigarette habit with electricity. It hooks you up with a wire that sends a shock to your wrist every time you reach for a cigarette. If an electric prod works on cattle, why won't it work in people? You don't see cattle smoking, do you?

Another outfit has rigged up an electric fork for people who over-eat. When you pass a certain number of forkfuls an electric shock pulls you to a stop, although I guess you could beat this by picking up a slab of pie in your hand.

I don't know how serious the energy crisis is, but if it won't throw the whole country into darkness there ought to be one more use of this electric shock treatment.

It's a natural. Hook Congress up with an electrical gadget that sends a shock wave down every member's arm when he votes a tax increase, even if it means building several new generating plants in the Washington area.

Have you ever stopped to think what it'd be like to have a non-smoking, non-over-eating, no tax voting Congress? It might be worth an extra tax to pay for the electric bill.

Yours faithfully,
J. A.

TIC Plans Trade Mission

AUSTIN

Plans for an August trade mission that will take 12 Texas industrialists to the South American cities of Sao Paulo and Rio de Janeiro are being mapped by officials of the International Trade Division of the Texas Industrial Commission.

The mission, organized by the TIC and the U. S. Department of Commerce, will be the second commission-sponsored trade mission to a foreign country this year.

Prearranged interviews, conferences, and meetings with Brazilian industrialists have been set up for the team members. The Texans will visit with manufacturers in Sao Paulo August 20-25 and in Rio de Janerio August 26-31.

James Havey, director of the International Trade Division, said the trip would offer Texas industrialists a tremendous opportunity to sell their products in an expanding foreign market.

During 1971, Brazil's gross national product grew at an annual rate of 11.3 percent, Havey said. He attributed much of the growth to the country's booming industrial and agricultural complex.

URBAN EXPANSION

Urban metropolitan areas in the United States are expanding at the rate of 1,000 square miles a year, equivalent to adding a new Boston or Washington, D. C., annually.

"Low Down" FROM THE Congressional Record

By JOE CRUMP

(A Column for Readers Who Haven't Time to Review the Congressional Record Daily)

CAMERA IS A LIAR

REP. PHILIP M. CRANE (Ill.) ". . . Young Americans grow up with television constituting an important aspect of their lives. Unfortunately, television has presented a world which reflects reality only dimly and which, on many occasions presents unreality as if it were the real world in which individuals actually live their lives.

"Television News, for example tells us of violence and echoes the flamboyant rhetoric of those who urge that the society be burned down. It does not provide equal time and, more often provides no time at all for the aspects of citizens working to create a better society and a more humane world. . .

"Bruce Herschensohn until recently film director for the U.S. INFORMATION Agency, noted that -- 'The camera is a liar. All those lenses, viewfinders, turrets, cranks and buttons have been made to preserve the visible on film or tape or for live transmission. But that assumes the visible is the truth. It's not. The invisible is the greatest truth.

'Young people, old people, hard - working people are spread through every state. Most will die unrecorded on a permanent public medium because they are neither astronaut nor aberationist, neither hero nor hijacker, neither movie star nor murderer. They are just too average --and there are too many of them. And so the normal goes unseen.'

"Also UNSEEN with regard to the war in Vietnam, are pictures of calculated atrocities of the Vietcong. Many Americans believe that all the violence in that war is committed not by the Communist aggressors, but by American and American – supported troops. Whis is this so? Mr. Herschensohn notes that --

'Because our photographers cannot be there, we do not see on our television sets the terror the other side inflicts, the executions they administer, the death and destruction they cause, or the invading masses killing the innocent.' (The refugees are not streaming towards the north.)

"Would we have won World War II with television as it exists in America today? Bruce Herschensohn doubts it. . ."

CRUMP'S COMMENT

Newspapers continue to reflect "Life in America." They record deaths and divorce, but also births and marriages. Well adjusted marriages are so normal that few newspapers will accept an item of celebration unless the couple have been married at least 50 years.

Television remains an entertainment medium, between intelligence - insulting, commercials. But entertainment to suit every taste.

However, it's been discovered that it requires little effort to activate the shut-off switch on a TV set -- even a small child can do it.

Farmers Talk To Legislators

Farmers and ranchers from across the state converged on Austin Tuesday, June 20, for the purpose of contacting state representatives and senators to promote exemptions for farm trailers from the present light and brake requirements.

In a one - day visitation promoted by the Texas Farmers Union, approximately 50 farmers, ranchers, and their wives presented the facts as they saw them to the state's legislators on the issues of concern to rural Texans.

Local residents in the drive-in to Austin were G. A. Dodd, Willie Moraw, and Ervin Pelzel.

The exercise in "grassroots democracy" resulted in several issues being discussed with members of the legislature besides the brake and light exemptions for farm trailers. They expressed the need for additional screwworm fly appropriations and tax reform.

Team members stated that light requirements should be exempt for farm trailers as long as the trailer was pulled during daylight hours and visible at 1,000 feet. They also asked that the brake exemptions be provided farm trailers of under 15,000 pound gross weight at speeds not in excess of the posted speed limit for the road traveled.

Leader Says Beef In Demand

Texas Farm Bureau President J. T. (Red) Woodson said that the American consumer needs to understand that beef prices are not high in relation to other consumer items.

"As a matter of fact, the remarkable efficiency of the American cattlemen has helped hold down the price of beef to the consumer," Woodson said.

He pointed out that farmers and ranchers have increased beef production by 2 1/2 times in the past 20 years -- this at a time when the population was increasing by about a third.

"Normally, this situation would have depressed beef prices, except for the extraordinary demand for beef --particularly good American beef," the farm leader said. "In the past two decades, beef consumption per capita in this country has doubled."

Woodson pointed out that beef prices to the producer are up to about the same level of the early 1950s. The difference in price at the retail level is a result of the inflation of the past 20 years, he said.

The farm leader said that only a fair price will keep an adequate supply of beef coming to the meat counters in the stores.

4-H CLUB ACTIVITIES

By Rodney B. Kruse

Showmanship and training were put to the test for the District 4-H Horse Show at Gonzales this past Saturday.

Representing this county was Martha Lynn McDermott of Cameron. Martha Lynn entered the Halter, Western Pleasure, and Reining class of the contest.

She placed 3rd out of 10 in the Halter and 5th out of 40 in the Western Pleasure and 7th out of 35 in the Reining class. Martha Lynn was trying for the State Horse Show at San Antonio on July 19-22. Results will be announced soon as the state participates. We want to wish Martha Lynn all the luck in the future.

From June 27 to 29, six Milam County 4-H club members will receive extensive leadership training.

This leadership training will be conducted at the District 10 Junior Leadership Laboratory on the Blinn College campus at Brenham.

The eighteen counties who make up District 10 will send six members each who will receive training in leading different types of games, songs and ceremonials.

The six club members from this county will be Lynn Falke and Tami Gray of Thorndale, and from the Cameron Club will be Paula and Donald Fleming, Rosemary Ehler and Brian Cobb.

These six members will lead other 4-H club members in their local club and on the county wide level, especially during the county wide 4-H Day Camp.

County Bond Sales Grow

May sales of Series E and H United States Savings Bonds amounting to $69,609 in Milam County were reported today by County Bond Chairman Henry Siebman. Sales for the five-month period totaled $326,021 for 46 percent of the 1972 goal of $710,000.

Sles for the state of Texas during May were $17,-314,314-- a 5 percent increase over May 1971 when sales were $16,476,145. January-May sales totaled $91,-572,743 with 45 percent of the $202.3 Million 1972 goal achieved.

County Agent's Notes

Crops Tour Set For Monday

By Bill McCutchen
Milam County Agent

The 1972 Milam County crops tour sponsored by the crops committee promises something a little different this year. The tour will be held Monday, July 3rd from 8 a.m. to 12 noon, with the group leaving from the east side of the post office in Cameron at 8 a.m. sharp.

The tour will have some grain sorghum variety tests and cotton variety tests as in the past; but this year will include Temik treated cotton, Southern corn rootworm damaged corn, and finally a stop at Joe Glaser's catfish farm.

Experimental grain sorghum varieties will be seen on the Anton Kunchick farm, Frank Kratochvil farm, Doyal Arnold farm, and Wilburn Beckhusen farm. Cotton varieties including TAMCOT Sp 21, 23, and 37 will be seen on the Joe Mueck farm, Anton Moraw farm, Frank Kratochvil farm and Wilburn Beckhusen farm. Temik treated cotton will be viewed on Joe Mueck and Southern Corn rootworm damage will be viewed on corn at Frank Donolik's farm. The tour will end with a stop on Joe Glaser's catfish farm at Buckholts.

A cordial invitation is extended to any and all who would like to make the tour. It will be interesting and informative.

SCREWWORM CASES

Five confirmed cases of screwworms have been reported in Milam County and other suspected cases have been reported.

It is vital that all animals be inspected closely and regularly so that infestations can be pinpointed and treated with sterile flies.

Weather conditions were favorable for heavy screwworm buildups last winter in northern Mexico as well as in parts of the Southwest. Some infestations were also spread by transporting infested livestock last fall, and the insect pest spent the mild winter in new quarters.

Texas has been hard hit with screwworm cases this spring and the program is threatened.

Although sterile fly production at the Mission Lab is running at it's peak - 200 million a week -- treatment with these flies is not enough to stop the destructive, flesh eating livestock pest.

I would urge cattlemen to inspect animals regularly and carefully and treat all wounds, to delay any surgery until Fall, be cautious of livestock shipments from infested areas, and send all worm samples to the Mission Lab for identification.

This is one of the finest programs I have had the opportunity to work with. Everyone must cooperate if the screwworm eradication program is to be effective. This means farmers, ranchers, pet owners, and others who work with or own animals.

COTTON INSECTS

We are nearing the first peak boolworm egg lay. Bollworms are cyclic in their reproduction and are phased with the lunar cycle. This year the predicted dates of rapid increase in bollworm eggs in cotton should occur: June 28 - July 2nd; July 28 - August 1; and August 26-August 30.

LABOR PROGRAMS

Minority membership in apprenticeship programs registered with the Department of Labor has increased by 73 percent over the past 2 years. Black, Spanish-speaking, Indian, and Oriental youth comprised 18,977 or 9.8 percent of the 194,-543 apprentices on July 1, 1971.

Texas Number One Again...Beef Cattle Still Not At Full Parity...Milk Production Remains Steady...Egg-Type Chick Hatch Down, Broiler and Turkey Hatches Increase... Hogs Sold Through Auctions Are Up...DDT Ban Analyzed.

TEXAS is number one again in cattle feeding. The Texas Crop and Livestock Reporting Service notes that 2,045,000 head of cattle were on feed in Texas as of June 1. This is 22 per cent above a year ago and 11 per cent above the 1,848,000 on feed a month ago.

Texas replaces Iowa as the number one cattle feeding state in the nation. For the six-state cattle on feed--Texas, Arizona, California, Colorado, Iowa, and Nebraska--cattle on feed total 7,925,000 head.

BEEF cattle prices, although at new highs, are still not on an equal financing rating with the rest of the economy. Beef prices are now at 93 per cent of parity; calf prices are at 96 per cent of parity. In reality, cattle prices are only slightly higher than levels of 20 years ago, yet cattle production costs have more than doubled during that time.

Throughout the six-state cattle on feed report, numbers of cattle on feed increased. The 7,925,000 head as of June 1 is 12 per cent more than a year ago.

MILK production in Texas during May totaled 293,000,000 pounds. This is the same as in May, 1971, but one per cent below the previous month's production.

Milk production per cow kept for milk averaged 825 pounds per cow for the month of May. This is the same as a year earlier but five pounds below the previous month. Preliminary price for all wholesale milk for May was estimated at $6.65 per hundredweight.

Nationwide, milk production is estimated during May at one per cent above a year earlier.

HATCH of egg-type chickens in Texas totaled 2,009,000, down 10 per cent from a year ago. The May hatch of broiler chicks increased five per cent from a year ago. The total of 18,163,000 was four per cent above the preceding month. The total turkey poult hatch for May at 1,436,000 increased nine per cent from a year ago.

Egg production totaled 240 million compared with 225 million a year ago. The 12.3 million layers averaged 62.8 eggs daily per 100 hens. Layers on hand were up four per cent from a year ago, two per cent below April.

Nationwide, egg production declined two per cent from a year ago. The daily egg production per 100 layers was slightly higher than for Texas at 63.7.

SALES for cattle and calves, sheep and goats were below year-ago levels while hog sales showed an increase.

Cattle and calves marketed through auctions during May numbered 567,000 head, 13 per cent below a year ago. Sheep sales at livestock auctions totaled 167,000 head, 24 per cent below a year ago.

Hogs sold during May totaled 54,000 head, four per cent above a year ago.

NO SERIOUS problems for Texas are in prospect with the banning of most uses of DDT at the end of this year, Texas Agriculture Commissioner John C. White said. The use of DDT in agriculture has declined drastically in recent years throughout the state.

COTTON season is underway with the first bale of cotton of the 1972 crop having been ginned recently at San Juan in the Lower Rio Grande Valley. Indications are the Valley crop is a good one.

SCS NEWS

Cooperator Leslie Douglas has controlled additional brush on his Salado farm, 4 miles south of Salado. Leslie has a mesquite brush problem on his pasture. Treatment by spraying kerosene and 245-T has given good results.

The mesquite can be controlled to ground level by treating with kerosene, but a follow up application with 245-T is necessary to control regrowth. The kerosene and 245-T can be applied at one application with an expected control of 80 to 95 percent kill if properly applied.

Landowners should take precautions before using brush killing chemicals. Federal registration prohibits the use of 245-T and other chemicals for use on non-agricultural land.

The use of 245-T for brush and weed control on pastureland is not restricted if proper directions are followed. This chemical should not be used close to public parks, roads, homes, picnic, and recreational areas and above fish ponds.

Brush and weeds should be in the full leaf stage when chemical treatment is used. The temperature should be approximately 80 degrees for best killing results.

Additional information on the use of chemicals for brush and weed control is available through your local Soil Conservation Office and Soil Conservation District.

...because of a cherry soda and the Bill of Rights...

"When I was seven, I had my first cherry soda right here. That's when I decided that one day I'd own the whole soda fountain... and the drugstore, too! And, in this country, my dream could come true because of the free enterprise system."

The Bill of Rights made possible the free enterprise system... the system which permits people to go into business... to offer a product or service... and to make a fair profit.

As individuals... as businesses... as a nation, we are stronger because of the free enterprise system. By preserving this system, we help assure our strength in the future.

New Books Listed For Cameron Library

The following books are recent additions to the Cameron Public Library lending shelves:

LOVE CHILD by Maureen Duffy - A novel about Kit, a rootless, solitary child, the precocious offspring of wealthy parents and a ruthless act of revenge which leads to the final drama of this remarkable novel.

LIGHTHOUSE by Eugenia Price - The story of a man torn between his dreams which he could not relinquish and stark necessities which he could not deny set in the period of young America.

CODE FIVE by Frank G. Slaughter - A novel combinding real people, serious contemporary problems (slums, racial tensions) and medical technology in a tale of a decaying metropolitan hospital and the surgeon who sets out to save it and himself.

INDIAN TRIBES OF TEXAS published by Texian Press - A history of the Indian tribes of Texas written by outstanding historians and accompanied by authentic in detail paintings Jack Bryant of the Indians as they lived, fought and hunted.

A STREETFUL OF PEOPLE by Winston M. Estes - A tale told with humor and affection of the people in a small Texas town when life was simpler and blessed by an innocence that was wept away forever by the age of the atom.

THE OUTLAW TRAIL by Charles Kelly - An entirely authentic and exciting account of the famous cowboy -outlaw Butch Cassidy and his "Wild Bunch."

Hot Weather Specials For Quick and Easy On the Budget Meals

Chicken is the right-now food for entertaining and for family dining. Chicken Nugget Tempura is an excellent dish in the Japanese style of cooking. Chunks of boned chicken are dipped into feather light batter and deep-fried. Bone the chicken and cut it into nuggets in advance to make this a quick-to-serve dish. The tender pieces of breast meat fry to a delicate golden brown in less than 5 minutes.

Chicken Nugget Tempura

- 3 whole broiler-fryer chicken breasts
- 1 egg, beaten
- ½ cup water
- ½ cup flour
- 1 teaspoon Ac'cent
- ½ teaspoon salt
- Corn oil
- Soy sauce

Bone chicken breasts; remove skin. Cut each breast half into 6 or 8 chunks, about 1½ inches square. Blend together egg, water, flour, Ac'cent and salt. Dip chicken into batter. Drop chunks, several at a time, into ½ inch of corn oil heated to 370°F. in an 11-inch chicken fryer. Fry until golden on all sides, about 4 or 5 minutes. Drain. Keep warm until ready to serve in foil-lined shallow pan in 250°F. oven. Serve with soy sauce.

YIELD: 6 servings.

Summer time is not a time to spend hours in the kitchen so let short cut recipes for a main course plus simple salad make summer more fun.

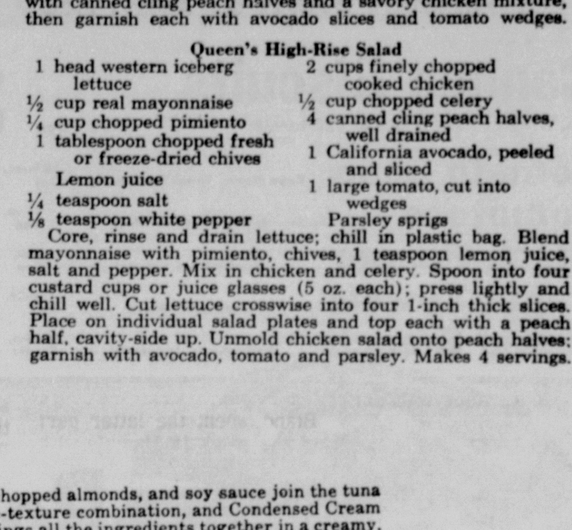
Economy and easy preparation are features for Chicken Tempura, Shipshape Tuna, iceburg salad and the delicious main course Queen's High-Rise salad.

If tempura cooking is new for you, the Chicken Nugget is an excellent place to start. For added interest dip your favorite raw vegetable - and that can be anything from spinach to carrots - in the basic batter and deep fry until batter is light brown. Tempera pans with side rack warmer are now on the market in regular and electric models.

Iceberg with Cream Dressing

- 1 head western iceberg lettuce
- ¼ cup dairy sour cream
- ¼ cup real mayonnaise
- ¼ cup grated Cheddar cheese
- 2 teaspoons vinegar
- ¼ teaspoon salt
- ¼ teaspoon savory
- ⅛ teaspoon pepper

Core, rinse and thoroughly drain lettuce. Chill in plastic bag or lettuce crisper. Cut lettuce into four or six wedges. Mix all remaining ingredients. Top wedges with dressing and serve. Makes 4-6 servings.



"Queen's High Rise Salad" is just one example of the unlimited variety of attractive and tasty salads that can be made with "rafts" or crosscut slices of crisp western iceberg lettuce.

For a bridge luncheon entree salad simply top lettuce rafts with canned cling peach halves and a savory chicken mixture, then garnish each with avocado slices and tomato wedges.

Queen's High-Rise Salad

- 1 head western iceberg lettuce
- ½ cup real mayonnaise
- ¼ cup chopped pimiento
- 1 tablespoon chopped fresh or freeze-dried chives
- Lemon juice
- ¼ teaspoon salt
- ⅛ teaspoon white pepper
- 2 cups finely chopped cooked chicken
- ½ cup chopped celery
- 4 canned cling peach halves, well drained
- 1 California avocado, peeled and sliced
- 1 large tomato, cut into wedges
- Parsley sprigs

Core, rinse and drain lettuce; chill in plastic bag. Blend mayonnaise with pimiento, chives, 1 teaspoon lemon juice, salt and pepper. Mix in chicken and celery. Spoon into four custard cups or juice glasses (5 oz. each); press lightly and chill well. Cut lettuce crosswise into four 1-inch thick slices. Place on individual salad plates and top each with a peach half, cavity-side up. Unmold chicken salad onto peach halves; garnish with avocado, tomato and parsley. Makes 4 servings.

Among the many delicious gifts offered by the sea, tuna is probably the most popular. Rediscover the delights of this versatile food in Shipshape Tuna Bake, a snappy new variation on a tried and true theme.

Pineapple chunks, chopped almonds, and soy sauce join the tuna for a refreshing taste-texture combination, and Condensed Cream of Mushroom Soup brings all the ingredients together in a creamy, thick sauce. A dramatic topping is achieved with slices of Italian bread.

In the interest of on-the-go moderns, all ingredients are combined right in the baking dish, and the baking time is a short 30 minutes.

SHIPSHAPE TUNA BAKE

- 1 can (10½ ounces) Campbell's Condensed Cream of Mushroom Soup
- ½ cup milk
- 2 cans (7 ounces each) tuna, drained and flaked
- 1 cup drained canned pineapple chunks
- ¼ cup chopped toasted almonds
- 2 tablespoons finely chopped onion
- 1 teaspoon soy sauce
- 4 slices French or Italian bread
- 2 tablespoons melted butter or margarine
- ¼ teaspoon dried parsley flakes, crushed

In 1½-quart shallow baking dish (about 10x6x2"), combine soup, milk, tuna, pineapple, almonds, onion, and soy; top with bread. Brush bread with butter; sprinkle with parsley. Bake at 350°F. for 30 minutes or until hot. Makes about 5 cups.

The cooler the home, the warmer the marriage.

Marriages may be made in heaven, but it's hard to keep them heavenly when it's hotter than blazes.

That's where central gas air conditioning comes in. It can bring you together. All summer long. As close as you want. All summer long.

And it won't cost you much either. In fact, if you have gas heating in your home, you could easily have half a central air conditioning system already. Because you may be able to use the duct work and furnace blower you already have. That saves about fifty percent on installation costs.

That's just part of the savings. Gas costs less to operate than electricity. And gas air conditioning owners get special low rates during the long hot summer months.

But you'll save more than money with gas. You'll save time and energy, too. Because with central gas air conditioning there are fewer moving parts. Fewer breakdowns. Fewer repairs.

This summer, have central gas air conditioning installed. For loves sake.

July Highlights In Texas

The following events, selected by the Texas Tourist Development Agency, Box 12008, Austin 78711, are but a few of the many excellent recreational activities offered by communities across the state. A more complete listing of Texas events may be obtained free from the Texas Highway Department, Travel and Information Division, Box 5064TT, Austin 78703.

June 30-July 1-2 Annual Shrimporee Festival, Aransas Pass. Long advertised as the place where the fish "bite every day," Aransas Pass salutes its shrimp industry with this annual celebration. Events include the blessing of the shrimp fleet, beauty contest, parade and a giant shrimp boil.

* * *

July 1, 3 and 4 Texas Cowboy Reunion, Stamford. Now in its 42nd year, the Texas Cowboy Reunion was founded on the principle that the working cowboy should have his own rodeo—so this is it! There are no rodeo professionals—just everyday cowboys trying to win a new saddle or a new pair of spurs. It remains the world's largest amateur rodeo.

Meat Prices — Why?

Several factors combined to bring about the recent increase in meat prices, according to the National Live Stock and Meat Board. An extremely bad winter in some livestock-growing sections of the country in '71 plus fear that the dreaded corn blight would spread brought about a temporary reduction of livestock on feed. This resulted in fewer meat animals coming to market at a time when consumer demand for meat was strong due to the increased level of income for most Americans which has been occurring over the past several years.

LEADS REVIVAL - Rev. Richard Holland is leading revival services at the Trinity Baptist Church in Cameron. Services are held nightly at 7:30 and will continue through Sunday, July 2.

Bill Mann In Calvert Crusade

Bill Mann, evangelistic singer and recording artist, will direct the singing at the First Baptist church, Calvert, Texas beginning Sunday morning, July 9. The church will be engaged in an evangelistic crusade with the pastor, Dr. Joe Weldon Bailey, serving as evangelist. Services will begin each evening at 7:30.

Mann, a tenor, has traveled to all parts of this country in concert work, evangelistic campaigns, and important gatherings of all denominations. He is especially known for his work as master of ceremonies and soloist in humn festivals, such as the annual Birmingham Symphony Orchestra Festival in Alabama.

He has sung in England, Scotland, and Ireland in rallies and crusades sponsored by the Billy Graham Evangelistic Association and has sung in some of the great concert halls and cathedrals of the world, including Central Hall of London, Albert Hall of London, Central Hall of Birmingham (England), and St. Georges Church of Glasgow.

Mr. Mann will be in Calvert every night at the First Baptist church. In addition to conducting the congregation in great gospel music he will be singing solos each night.

Especially on Independence Day, we tend to regard our problems as unique, don't we? And in the bustling, troubled world of today we think of the past as pleasant and serene.

This "rush-hour" scene of 1900 seems miniature when compared with the urban traffic jams of today. But it illustrates that the "olden" days were not entirely rosy. Indeed, sanitation was poor, infant mortality prevalent, roads unpaved and one-room schoolhouses common.

Yet our ancestors, with an optimistic spirit based on faith in God, met and solved these problems, and we are indebted to them.

Today we face a different set of problems, and there's another big difference: the impact of the Church on our lives has waned. YET TODAY WE NEED THE CHURCH MORE THAN EVER—to provide us with a voice of hope and understanding.

INDIAN LEGEND

When Algonquian Indians roamed the forests of present-day New York State, legend says Iroquois braves scoffed at them: "Hatirontaks" or "They eat trees." That is how the Adirondack Mountains got their name, the National Geographic Society says.

MENTAL HEALTH MATTERS

Bertram S. Brown, M.D., Director
National Institute of Mental Health

Violent Behavior

The term, violence, is generally used to describe behavior which leads to the physical injury of other persons by a violent individual.

The study of violence, moreover, is a prime concern in the field of crime and delinquency. Within recent years, the increasing rates of violent crime, civil disorders, and the assassinations of national leaders have created widespread alarm and apprehension.

Scientific scrutiny and the development of understanding of the mechanisms of violence are clearly vital. This is why the National Institute of Mental Health's Center for Studies of Crime and Delinquency is deeply involved in studying individual violence — as part of its larger mission in prevention, control, and treatment of behavior which violates laws or comes to be viewed and handled as a kind of mental illness.

The program is focused on developing knowledge about aggressive, violent, and destructive behavior which affects large numbers of the population.

Studies of aggression in children, for example, are adding significant new pieces of information. One investigation compared aggressive and inhibited boys and their parents to determine the development of aggressive ways of behavior.

Results of the study indicate that how the parents punished or rewarded the children were important in determining the boys' aggressive reactions and the nature of aggression they displayed.

Another study included the entire third grade of a county, their teachers, and their parents. Findings of this study show that physical punishment does not foster the kind of parental identification that is conducive to conscience development. By contrast, methods of punishment which temporarily withheld parental attention and approval seemed to work favorably for conscience development.

Studies of crime and violence in various age groups are also among the wide-ranging scientific inquiries being carried on or supported by the Center. Research like this is the key to unlock new doors and provide solutions for the serious, massive, and complex problem of violence; and we anticipate expanding of such research and other program areas that will lead to the prevention and control of violence.

Logs Require Dry Storage

Relaxing by a blazing hearth is a favorite winter pastime made more enjoyable by having a dry, convenient place for storing firewood.

A garage or carport often will have room along a wall for building racks of 2x4-inch western lumber for stacking logs and kindling, placed so air can circulate through the stack.

Another idea is to build a lean-to shelter on the outside wall of the garage. The outside wall of the lean-to has siding to match the garage and the ends are open for access to stacked wood.

It's important to have a floor of slightly spaced 2x4-inch fir or pine to keep stacked logs away from ground moisture.

If wood must be stored away from the house, a shelter can be built by adding a sloped roof to two 6x6-inch posts spaced six to eight feet apart. Two 2x6-inch stringers attached above ground level support a floor of 2x4s.

"Oh, say does that star-spangled banner yet wave?"

When you display the Flag, you're saying a lot about yourself.

You're saying that you believe in the principles on which our government was founded. And, most of all, that you have faith in the future of our country.

It also means that you want to stand up and be counted.

As members of the community, we're concerned that some Americans appear to have forgotten the true meaning of the Flag. The Flag itself may remind them.

So, display the Flag. It's not "flag-waving." It's not an idle gesture.

It shows your colors.
